

RAIN TAXI PRESENTS XICANA WRITER AND ACTIVIST

CHERRÍE MORAGA

in conversation with writer
Alexis Pauline Gumbs!

From the celebrated editor of This Bridge Called My Back, Cherríe Moraga charts her own coming-of-age in her new memoir, Native Country of the Heart.

"I love Native Country of the Heart's forthright blending of a bio of Moraga's intriguing powerhouse mom, Elvira, with Moraga's own queer evolution. And that the intimate facts of Cherríe Moraga's family history get embedded alongside such valuable public secrets as the mass deportation of Mexican workers during the depression so that dust bowl farmers could have their jobs. This book is a coup."

—Eileen Myles, author of Afterglow
